APPRENTICESHIP

About Danny, Apprenticeship Program Manager

Danny Davis joined the UVA Facilities Management Apprenticeship Program as program manager in June 2023. In addition to nearly two decades of experience working in and managing the skilled trades, Danny has a passion for teamwork and helping others gain success in life for both their own and their communities' benefit.

Danny's professional experience includes administering technical education to audiences from diverse backgrounds. Most recently, he served as the Registered Apprenticeship Education Coordinator for the Virginia Department of Labor and Industry, where he worked closely with state leadership on standardizing procedures related technical instruction (RTI) for Virginia's Registered Apprenticeship Programs.

Additionally, Danny holds a Commonwealth of Virginia Technical Professional License, is a certified OSHA #500-Standards for Construction trainer, a certified NCCER Master Trainer, and a certified NCCER Craft Instructor in three skilled trades areas. He uses his trades knowledge and experience to create an accessible, hands-on training program to produce a regenerative pipeline of skilled trades workers at UVA FM.

Managers & supervisors: Look for an invite to a meet & greet soon!

OCCUPATIONAL TRAINING

Workplace Training: Closing the Skills Gap

In today's rapidly evolving business landscape, workplace training has emerged as a vital tool for tradespeople to stay competitive and excel in their respective industries, and Facilities Management is no exception. With technological advancements, changing regulations, and evolving customer expectations, continuous learning and upskilling have become essential for trade professionals. Over the next few weeks, we'll look at some aspects of this as it relates to the significance of workplace training and highlight some benefits in empowering individuals and driving organizational success.

Bobby Putrino, FM Occupational Health & Safety Trainer
rg4ny@virginia.edu
Ph: 434-906-7354

This week, we will look at “Closing the Skills Gap”:

Workplace training programs, like the ones administered by the Occupational Training Department here at FM, address the widening skills gap by equipping trade workers with the knowledge and expertise necessary to tackle emerging challenges. In addition to addressing many of the nuances specific to a university, these programs focus on industry-specific skills, technical know-how, and best practices, ensuring that our employees are well-prepared to meet the demands of their trade. By bridging the skills gap, Facilities Management can maintain a highly competent and diverse workforce while increasing operational efficiency and ultimately, job satisfaction.

Training Opportunity: Making the Leap from Peer to Manager

August 2, 2:00-4:00 PM, at 2400 Old Ivy Road, Room 189

Transitioning from a peer to a manager can be an exciting and challenging opportunity. This class helps you identify actions you can take to position yourself for success as a manager. You'll also learn tips on how to interact with your former peers after you step into your manager role.

At the completion of this class, participants will be able to:

- Describe the broad range of challenges they may face when moving from peer to manager.
- Apply strategies and tactics for effectively managing reactions from former peers.

Leadership Connection: Communicate with Kindness

This week I have been preparing for a communication seminar. As a result, I have spent a lot of time thinking about communication and the role relationships play when we communicate: Whether personal relationships or professional/working relationships, all relationships require attention, care, and thoughtful consideration.

This was on my mind as I began searching for topics and themes for this article when I came across an interesting piece on the importance of civility in communications by author Sharon Strong, a corporate communications executive. She shares that in an increasingly polarized world, priorities and a lack of trust can lead to heightened frustration and potentially tense communications. Strong continues that we can counter outside pressures by communicating with kindness and practicing the following ideas:

- Break down defensiveness with kindness: Approaching difficult situations with a generous and gracious mindset is more likely to receive results than approaching with a combative attitude.
- Give credit where credit is due: “People like to be seen and appreciated. Recognizing those who deserve it engenders enthusiasm, hard work, trust, and loyalty.”
- Give the other party space and clarity: Giving the other party space and clarity for your discussion and ideas helps to prepare the other party so you are not catching them off guard, and you are receiving their full attention.

Think about each of these ideas and what they may look like in your day-to-day interactions.

Can you think of examples of how you could practice these concepts?

I would love to hear how you plan to incorporate these tactics to help you communicate with kindness. Reach me at the email and phone number above or reach out to the team at

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY

Did You Know? WetBulb Globe Temperature

The WetBulb Globe Temperature (WBGT) is a measure of the heat stress in direct sunlight, which takes into account temperature, humidity, wind speed, sun angle, and cloud cover (solar radiation). This differs from the heat index, which takes into consideration temperature and humidity and is calculated for shady areas.

Suggested Actions and Impact Prevention
WBGT(F)	Effects	Precautionary Actions
< 80
80-85	Working or exercising in direct sunlight will stress your body after 45 minutes.	Take at least 15 minutes of breaks each hour if working or exercising in direct sunlight
85-88	Working or exercising in direct sunlight will stress your body after 30 minutes.	Take at least 30 minutes of breaks each hour if working or exercising in direct sunlight
88-90	Working or exercising in direct sunlight will stress your body after 20 minutes.	Take at least 40 minutes of breaks each hour if working or exercising in direct sunlight
>90	Working or exercising in direct sunlight will stress your body after 15 minutes.	Take at least 45 minutes of breaks each hour if working or exercising in direct sunlight

If you work or exercise in direct sunlight, the WBGT is a good element to monitor. Military agencies, OSHA, and many nations use the WBGT as a guide to managing workload in direct sunlight.

Check out the WetBulb Globe Temperature: <https://www.weather.gov/tsa/wbgt>

Preparedness - What to do before doing outdoor activities when the WBGT is high -

- Wear a hat and light weight, light fitting, light colored clothes.
- Plan to take frequent breaks in shady areas.

Safety - What to do while doing outdoor activities when the WBGT is high -

- Take breaks in the shade. Strenuous outdoor activities should be reduced, especially in direct sunlight where there is little ventilation.
- Drink plenty of water or other non-alcohol fluids. Your body needs water to keep cool. Drink plenty of fluids even if you don't feel thirsty.
- Don't get too much sun. Sunburn makes the job of heat dissipation that much more difficult.

Tools for Your Toolbox: Hydration & Mental Health

Staying hydrated is crucial for our physical health, but does hydration impact our mental health as well? Yes!

According to a 2018 study, people who drank less water had a higher risk of depression and anxiety. A previous study in 2014 found that when water intake was decreased, mood was adversely affected: individuals were less calm, more overwhelmed, and more prone to feelings of dissatisfaction.

Tips to Stay Hydrated:

- Drink a glass of water first thing in the morning.
- Set notification reminders for throughout the day on smart devices.
- Drink a glass of water before each meal.
- Set a daily goal.
- Drink a glass of water before bed.
- Eat fruits and vegetables high in water content.
- Try adding an electrolyte drink mix for flavor.
- Be aware of the signs of dehydration.

From UVA Emergency Management: UVA Alerts, Active Attacker Training & Supervisors' Training

Dan Shantler, systems control center manager, and UVA Emergency Management have prepared the documents below to update FM employees on emergency procedures.

- UVA FM-OHS is supporting the distribution of these documents and training by presenting these materials & training to FM safety committees who will then share with their shops. Sessions for custodial staff will also be scheduled.
- Translated materials and other accessible options can be made available.
- Procedures that can be shared with contractors and vendors that work with FM are also in development.

Latest COVID-19 Vaccine Recommendations

- Adults ages 65 and older and immunocompromised people can get an additional bivalent COVID-19 vaccine dose as of April 19.
- Monovalent (original) COVID-19 mRNA vaccines will no longer be recommended for use in the United States due to the increased effectiveness of the bivalent vaccines.

What has not changed:

- CDC continues to recommend that everyone ages 6 years and older receive a bivalent mRNA COVID-19 vaccine. Individuals ages 6 years and older who have already received a bivalent mRNA vaccine do not need to take any action unless they are 65 years or older or immunocompromised.
- For young children, multiple doses continue to be recommended and will vary by age, vaccine, and which vaccines were previously received.

COVID-19 vaccines remain widely available at local healthcare providers, pharmacies, and clinics throughout the area. Information on BRHD vaccination clinics can be found on their website. Community members can also search for COVID-19 vaccine appointments throughout the state and country using the national vaccine locator tool or by calling 1-800-232-0233 (TTY 1-888-720-7489).
